Mr. Rajiv
Ruparelia Group
Crane Chambers
Kampala.

Dear Sir,

RE: INVITATION TO SPONSOR THE OFFICIAL LAUNCH OF JANZI-A MUSIC
INSTRUMENT ON 13TH APRIL 2019, KATONGA HALL AT 6PM.

We kindly request for sponsorship of the official launch of Janzi the instrument at the Kampala Serena Hotel, Katonga Hall.

Janzi Is a Ugandan instrument invented by James Ssewakiryanga Junior aka Ssewa Ssewa. The instrument was recognized/approved and certified by the Uganda government and granted a certificate in 2017. This was after ARIPO (African Regional Intellectual Property Organization) Zimbabwe had vented and approved it.

Janzi is uniquely an interesting instrument of its kind. It's a 22 string instrument tuned in two different scales which is the Diatonic on the Left and Pentatonic on the Right. This is a unique specification for this chordophone / string instrument. It is the basis on which it has been recognized by ARIPO Zimbabwe and the URSB (Uganda Registration Services Bureau) and accorded the UTILITY MODEL PROTECTION.

Mr. James Ssewakiryanga has been to Germany, Sweden, Denmark, France, Spain, Switzerland, Netherlands, Austria, Czech Republic, Belgium and USA to mostly introduce the instrument to music schools and Universities. In the US he introduced it to the Legendary Steve Miller at Lincoln Center in New York. He has met and given Jazz Maestro and Bass player Richard Bona his Janzi here in Uganda.

Our Chief Guest for the launch is LT. Gen. Muhoozi Kainerugaba.

It's on the above note that we humbly request you to sponsor the event in anyway you can as we witness this maiden launch. We genuinely hope that our request will meet your kind consideration.

We await your positive response.

Yours truly,

ABOUT THE INVENTOR

- Born in 1987 in Kampala, Uganda, to a musical family. Ssewakiryanga James Jnr aka Ssewa Ssewa began his artistic journey at an early age
- He has since attended a number of music schools, visited many countries and entertained audiences in thousands in Uganda and around the world.
- Ssewa co-founded Janzi band in 2009 to extend his artistic mission with a collection of Uganda's most celebrated instrumentalists.
- Besides Janzi (instrument) Ssewa Ssewa has innovated other Ugandan traditional instruments like Adungu, Akogo, Endingidi, Endoongo.
- Ssewa leads his audience into the enticing and soulful African music culture with traditional instruments, songs and stories from his homeland, weaving these traditions together with a modern and global sound.

Other Innovations

- Besides Janzi (instrument) Ssewa Ssewa also innovated instruments like the Adungu, Endongo, Endingidi, Akogo.
- He has modified them with inbuilt pickups, and they look more modern than the traditional ones. He has videos of how they have looked like for centuries until now.

Making of Janzi

- A Janzi instrument will take one week to be completed.
- Use of wood. Strings, tuning pegs, sound pick ups and equalizers.

Ugandan musician Sewa Sawa will begin a one-month residency at the Sensus music school in Skellefteå, Sweden, on 3 October 2018.

Sewa is the inventor of the Janzi instrument.

Sewa told Music in Africa that he would stage shows and conduct workshops on his recently invented 22-string Janzi instrument.

"I am excited about this opportunity," he said. "My workshop will generally be about Ugandan traditional instruments, but the core outcome of my tour is to introduce and promote this

Proposed Sponsor

1- GROUP OVERVIEW

- Since its inception, the Ruparelia Group of Companies has been committed to the establishment and development of innovative pioneering and enduring businesses among various sectors in Uganda, including: banking, insurance, hospitality, conventions and leisure centres, education, real estate and floriculture.
- In a period of over 20 years, values instigated by The Group’s Chairman, Dr. Sudhir Ruparelia, have been propagated in the operations and performance of the various Ruparelia Group businesses, most of which are the Country’s leading players in their respective sectors.
- Dr. Sudhir Ruparelia was born in Uganda and along with his parents moved to UK in his early teens, where he engaged in a number of small business ventures. It’s from experiences in these business ventures that the Doctor honed his business acumen, something that drove him to return to Uganda and tap into the business benefits of the then newly obtained political and economic stability.
- With the support of a professional management team, all Ruparelia Group companies continue to expand and develop under the guidance of the Chairman.
- The Group motto, "Serving to Grow and Growing to Serve" aptly describes Ruparelia Group.
